

iKBBi proudly unveil new sponsor

Press Release Date: June 2010 (National Release)

The iKBBi are proud to announce that leading waste removal company AnyJunk are the latest to join an impressive line up of reputable businesses to sponsor the institute and their objectives.

Joining an impressive lineup of iKBBi sponsors, AnyJunk became the latest industry business to support the aims and objectives of The Institute of Kitchen, Bedroom & Bathroom Installers this week.

Founded by entrepreneur Jason Mohr (pictured) in 2004, Jason's idea was to create a professional and environmentally responsible solution for businesses and individuals to get rid of their junk quickly and easily. Winner of several Business & Environmental Awards, shortlisted for this year's National Recycling Awards and recommended by many of the country's leading estate agents, lifestyle management and self-storage companies (even Trinny and Susannah love them!), they have grown fast to become the country's leading provider of on-demand rubbish clearance and recycling.

iKBBi Director Damian Walters said: "We're particularly pleased to be working with AnyJunk as they have demonstrated, through experience and the service they offer, their suitability to specifically support professional kitchen, bedroom & bathroom installers".

AnyJunk founder Jason added: "We're delighted to be sponsoring the iKBBi. AnyJunk currently undertakes around 20,000 clearances annually for the home improvements market, so it's a sector of which we have a great deal of experience. Our flexible and fast response, man & van clearance service is ideally suited to the varying load sizes and space constraints associated with installation waste. In addition, the fact that we divert from landfill over 75% of all materials collected (an achievement recently recognised in AnyJunk being shortlisted in the 2010 National Recycling Awards) and make compliance very straightforward (for example, we email 'duty of care' waste transfer notes for every clearance) ensures that householders, retailers and installers alike have peace of mind that their waste is being disposed of responsibly."

iKBBi Director Damian added: "In short, AnyJunk provide an extensive range of disposal options in an environmentally conscious way. We believe this can only be good for our members and industry". Visit www.anyjunk.co.uk for more on them.
